

Musicians Matter: Make real Human Music

Human musicianship is under threat. Talented rockstars, songwriters, musicians, and session players are increasingly finding their unique tunes, chords, and voices stolen and subsumed by AI engines. Without consent or compensation.

The Solution?

Human Intelligence® can tell you if music is actually human. Our team delivers a patent-pending system that enables you to certifiably prove your music, your tracks, and your songs were created by you, a genuine human musician.

We help you authenticate and own your music again, giving you the power to fight back against AI overreach, eliminate AI ingestion of your tunes, safeguard your uniquely creative spark, and retain the rights to your back catalogue.

We are fiercely pro-human. Join us. human.global/music

Benefits

People value HUMAN music over AI.
More than ever, authenticity matters.¹

Today, we know for a fact that fans want the real human touch: they'll pay more for real human music and they'll come to shows only if it's a real artist on the stage.² Getting  certified can connect you even more deeply with your fan base. Your heart and soul goes into your music. Why not tell the world?

Proof Points: Rockstars & Rappers

Corin Tucker of seminal rock band Sleater-Kinney, believes AI music is "soul deadening." She's fighting back by verifying her humanity and certifying her music. Rising alt rapper Callux had the same motivation: he wanted people to know he's real, not synthetic. You can do the same, whether you're a pro rockstar or a session drummer. Being human resonates! Claim the power of the .
